As citizens of Brookline, we are all very proud to boast of our fine parks, modern schools, and tree-shaded streets. During this past year, our town has been celebrating its 250th anniversary, and we of the Murivian staff would like you to forget the tensions of twentieth century living and travel back to the colonial days when Brookline, able to win its independence from Boston, was named after the "Brookline Farm" of one of the town's important men, Chief Justice Sewall.

Prior to the year 1705, citizens of Boston knew Brookline as "the Muddy River Hamlet," where the ground was good, the timber abundant, and the meadows excellent for grazing. In 1634, when a cart bridge was erected connecting Muddy River, Jamaica Pond, Ward's Pond and several other brooklets, the hamlet became a center of traffic for the whole area, and its Old Punch Bowl Tavern became a popular meeting place for residents and resting place for travelers. New roads were constantly being opened and land grants made faster than surveyors could lay them out. Men of the hamlet were already building the Brookline of the future, and leaving their mark in local history. The names of early Brookline families, such as Sewall, Aspinwall, and Devotion are still familiar to us today.

The town has grown in population from 484 people at the first census in 1790, to almost 60,000 people today. The narrow dirt paths have become paved thoroughfares. Our town today is a gracious residential section, a profitable business area, and an up-to-date civic minded community; yet, it retains an Old New England charm, the gift of our ancestors, the hard-working colonial men and women who established the Towne of Brookline, 250 years ago, in 1705. To the noteworthy history of our town and to the equally promising future, we of Brookline High School proudly dedicate . . . .

Mr. Noonan, Mrs. Pinanski, Dr. Kendrick, Dr. Seltzer

School Committee

The Brookline School Committee functions efficiently as the guiding hand for the public schools of the town. We extend our thanks to the entire committee for the pride we can take in knowing that our school system is recognized as one of the best in the state. Truly: THEY SERVE YOUTH THAT YOUTH MAY LEARN TO SERVE.

This year, along with the town of Brookline, Mr. Ernest R. Caverly, our superintendent of schools, is celebrating an anniversary. We offer our sincere congratulations to him on his twenty-five years with the Brookline Public Schools. We can only attempt to express our deep gratitude for Dr. Caverly's devoted service to the students of Brookline, and we hope he will enjoy many more years of a brilliant career.

Dr. Caverly, Superintendent of Brookline schools

Dr. Robert G. Andree

Headmaster

Robert G. Andree

This year we are especially proud to welcome you, Dr. Andree, our headmaster, back to Brookline High School. While you were in Holland last year, on a Fulbright fellowship, you brought to the students of the Rotterdam Lyceum some of that friendly encouragement which has spurred on so many of us here at home. We, too, have profited from your trip, for you have brought back to us from Europe new understanding of the world beyond Brookline High School. You have made the dimly perceived conditions that we read of in the newspapers a little more real. We are happy to say "Hello" to you once more.

Business Department

It is a well-known fact that only with the development of business can a country or town prosper. Businesses today need endless numbers of young women who can accurately and efficiently do such work as typing, stenography and bookkeeping. Boys planning to enter the commercial world require a good background in such courses as business law. Mr. Ehnes and the Business Department at Brookline High School provide just such programs which will prove to be foundations to future careers in the growing business world. This curriculum is complete, and its graduates can look forward to work in a variety of concerns.

Row 1: Mrs. Stewart, Miss Poland, Mr. Ehnes (Head of Dept.), Miss Hamblin, Miss Greenshields. Row 2: Mr. Dunbar, Mr. Wall, Mr. Avery.

Latin Department

Throughout the long progress of education, educators have never lost sight of Latin, the language of the ancients. So it is at Brookline High School, for, under the able leadership of Miss Vanacore, Miss Manter, and Mrs. Arnold, the students are given a thorough training not only in the fundamentals of grammar and vocabulary, but also in the translation and understanding of Latin literature, both prose and poetry. During the four years of study in which the students study Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil, they begin to discover the history of ancient countries and, at the same time, gain a better command of the English language.

Row 1: Mrs. Webster, Miss Vanacore (Head of Dept.), Miss Manter.

Mathematics Department

With the advancement of science throughout the world, the need for people with mathematical ability has continually grown. Mr. Ward and the Mathematics Department have been striving to encourage more young men and women to delve further into this fascinating subject. Whether a student of Brookline High plans to enter a field that requires advanced mathematics or one which calls for business math, he is able to find a course that will prove exceedingly valuable to him in later life. Even the student who does not expect to work in a field which demands mathematical skill can develop an ability to reason which will always serve him well.

Row 1: Miss Bates, Mrs. Ginty, Mr. Ward (Head of Dept.), Miss Zelinka, Miss Anderson. Row 2: Mr. Moulton, Mr. Bruce, Mr. Borg, Mr. Downes, Mr. Fitzgerald.

Modern Foreign Languages

To help Brookline students, the Modern Foreign Language Department offers widely used languages; included are French, German, and Spanish. Some of the brightest features of this department are the seminar classes where the more adept students are introduced to the advanced intricacies of their chosen language. Under the supervision of Miss O'Brien, all students are given a thorough background in reading and grammar. The goal of this department is to make the classes not only beneficial, but also interesting and appealing.

Row 1: Miss Tondreau, Miss Iaconis, Miss Pfleghaar, Miss Thompson, Miss Douglas. Row 2: Dr. Shepherd, Mr. Friedland, Mr. Mather, Mr. Rinaldi.

Music

Brookline High School can pride itself on the accomplishments of its band, orchestra, and vocal groups. Led by Mr. Corley, Mr. Joslin, and Mr. Joseph respectively, these three groups display unusually fine talent for the high school level. The curriculum of music courses is so arranged that the beginner can rapidly learn new skills, and the gifted students can further develop their ability Not only talented students can benefit from the teachings of the Music Department, for music appreciation courses make it possible for anyone with an interest in this form of art to add to his understanding of it.

Row 1: Mr. Corley, Mr. Joslin, Mr. Joseph.

Art

Under the guidance of Miss Peckham, the Art Department offers courses for the complete beginner and the more advanced student. Art may be an elective once or twice a week or a complete credit course. After having the opportunity to experiment in many mediums, students have a chance to develop their skills in the ways which appeal to them most. Students of art classes also take part in the art workshop of the Dramatic Society. The faculty members of this department are truly hard-working and devoted to helping each student find and develop his own ability in the field of art.

Row 1: Miss Deal, Mrs. Triska, Miss Shaw, Mr. Wilkinson, Miss Johnson, Miss Sawyer. Row 2: Mr. Seamans, Mr. Newsom, Mr. Schluntz, Mr. Jordan, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Walsh, Mr. Weeks.

English

Although the schoolteachers of the colonial period might be appalled at some of the accepted present-day vernacular, they would probably be equally impressed by the varied and interesting courses offered by the English Department under the direction of Miss Spaulding. With the expert guidance of Mr. Newsom, juniors and seniors are given the opportunity to develop their talents in Creative Writing courses. The newly instituted Advanced Standing Plan, headed by Mr. Wilkinson, enables students to advance rapidly to a near-college rate.

Industrial Arts

To the boys who wish to find employment upon graduation from high school, the Industrial Arts Department, under the direction of Mr. Edmunds, offers an excellent opportunity for preparation for a specific vocation. Through the work in this department, these young men receive a specialized education by means of practical experience with various tools and machines. Among the many valuable courses are auto, print, and electrical shops, mechanical drawing, and metal working. The graduates of this department are indeed well prepared for a wide variety of skilled jobs.

Row 1: Mr. Beauchemin, Mr. MacMillan, Mr. McCabe, Mr. Edmunds (Head of Dept.), Mr. Ford, Mr. Woodlock, Mr. Bowler.

Library

The town of Brookline has one of the oldest and most active library departments in Massachusetts. The first library in the town was located in a single room in Town Hall with a stock of 900 volumes. Because of public interest and support, it has steadily grown until today it serves the townspeople through 88 agencies. We at the high school are fortunate to have a large share of the town's 240,000 volumes in our own library. Miss Henry's staff is on duty full time to assist students in finding the material they need from the store of books and recordings.

Row 1: Miss Henry, Miss Martin. Row 2: Miss Lanine.

Administration

We are certain that the citizens of Brookline two hundred fifty years ago would be astonished to see the size of their high school today, for the student body of Brookline High has multiplied many times since then. Parallel to the growth of the school has been the increase in the number and complexity of the tasks which the Administration Department must perform. We offer a great deal of praise and thanks to those who so patiently answer numerous questions, manage endless records, and, in general, keep our school running smoothly.

Row 1: Miss O'Leary. Row 2: Miss Niland, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Hanley.

Social Studies

Under Mr. Power's careful guidance, the Social Studies Department offers such courses as World Civilizations, Modern History, American History, Problems of Democracy, and Human Relations. These subjects enable students to delve many centuries back into history and to continue to examine the influence of past happenings in the light of present day events. The student with an adequate background of history will perhaps gain a greater appreciation of democracy and become a more alert citizen in his community. Social Studies also give students a better understanding and appreciation of other lands and cultures.

Row 1: Mr. Merrill, Miss McCabe, Mr. Powers (Head of Dept.), Miss Weeden, Mrs. Hartley. Row 2: Mr. Smith, Mr. Howard, Mr. Scotland, Mr. Coe.

Homemaking

Even with the advent of streamlined, modernized, housekeeping devices which were unimagined 250 years ago, there is much to be learned by the students who elect courses in the Homemaking Department. Under the direction of Miss Cronin, the girls learn proper budgeting, food preparation, and general house management, so that they will be ready to assume the leading roles in their future homes. The department moves with the times, and the students who graduate from it today will be among the most skilled, thrifty, and up-to-date homemakers of tomorrow.

Row 1: Mrs. Barr, Miss Cronan (Dept. Head), Miss Egan. Row 2: Miss South, Mrs. Means.

Physical Education

In colonial times it was not the concern of the school whether or not each student had a sufficient amount of physical and recreational activity. Today the Brookline High School Physical Education Department, under the direction of Mr. Hines, offers an extremely varied plan of physical exercises. During the course of the year, students participate in square dancing, team games, and classes in apparatus. Each field activity is designed to help the students maintain a sound mind and body.

Seated: Mr. Hines (Dept. Head). Standing: Mrs. Brusko, Mrs. Novack, Miss Kelley, Mr. Weygant, Mr. Bemis.

Science

It is a well known fact that we live in a scientific age. The Science Department, with Mr. Hollingsworth as its guide, offers science courses for students in all four levels of high school. It is hoped that such courses as general science, biology, chemistry, and physics will serve as an introduction and an inspiration to many students who will continue their scientific studies throughout their college courses and in later life. The world is more science conscious today than it ever was when our ancestors first settled in Muddy River, and it is up to us to be aware of the changes in this fast moving era.

Row 1: Miss Campbell, Miss Able, Mr. Hollingworth (Dept. Head), Miss Bruce, Miss Murdock. Row 2: Mr. Warren, Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Wells, Mr. Fuller, Mr. Lowe.

Mr. Robert Archibald Housemaster

I should like to add my voice to the consensus that the Class of '56 was an exceptionally talented and cooperative class. My association with you for these four years has been enlightening and a source of pride as I recall the record you have made as a class and as individuals.

I think you will agree that B.H.S. has created a stimulating environment to those who would be challenged. You have had an experience of democracy at its best.

The staff shares with me the hope that you are carrying away with you more than subject knowledge. Independent, critical thinking, a sense of responsibility, a worthy code of ethics, and the ability for honest self-evaluation are not easily achieved; yet it has been quite apparent that many of you have taken great strides in the right direction. Perhaps these are ideas to check from time to time.

Keep in touch!

Robert H. Archibald

David Borden (Sec.), Albert Fine (V. Pres.), Ernest Moreno (Pres.), Marie Perrault (Treas.).

Miss Madeline Anderson

Assistant Housemaster

As a class you have been outstanding in social activities and scholastic attainments. You have contributed much to the school. In carrying out your duties, you have been exceptionally loyal and responsible. These qualities should help you immeasurably in attaining your individual goals.

I feel sure your successes will continue in your further education and in your life's work. With admiration and affection, I shall be glad to hear of your accomplishments in the years that lie ahead.

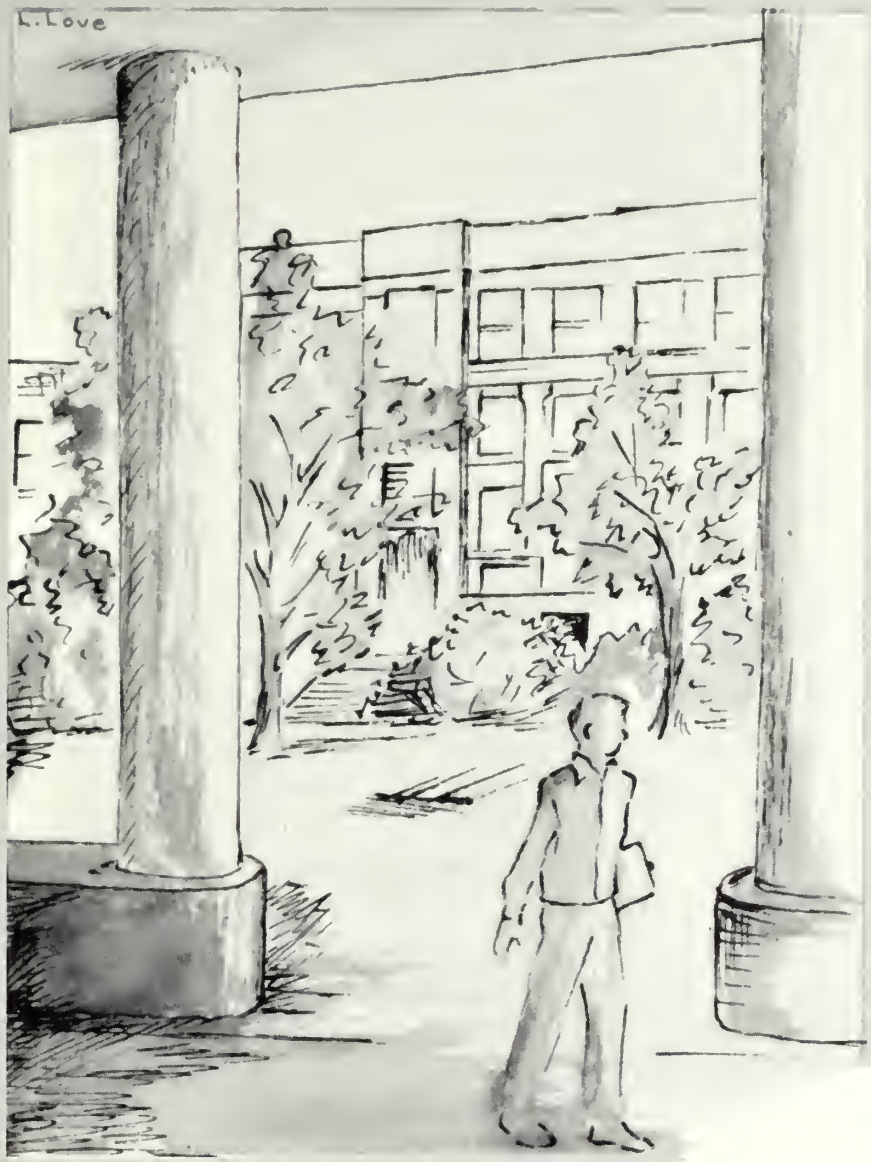
In Memoriam

RUTH KOFFMAN



We unlock the door; we cross the threshhold. We know not what lies beyond. But of one thing we are certain: there is no turning back. Behind us lies a vast panorama of development—mental, emotional, and social. We have completed a chapter of our lives. Ahead lies a surging river. We must tread the stepping stones carefully and surely.

Miss Clarice J. Weeden

Housemaster

Three of your high school years are now past—three good years of growth in knowledge and understanding, of fun and friendship. However, the best is yet to come. For each and everyone of you, may your senior year be one of challenge, success and happiness.

Mr. Edward H. Merrill

Assistant Housemaster

Emerson said, "The reward of a thing well done, is to have done it." In three years some of you have earned many rewards. You will earn more. It is not too late for others to achieve the "reward of a thing well done."

Mr. Warren Bartlett

Housemaster

We in Lincoln House have reached the midpoint in our high school program. There have been many gains in many ways. I am proud of your achievements and am looking forward with great expectation to the best years yet.

Miss Nellie Campbell

As Lincoln House, with its record of past accomplishments, looks to the future, may its concluding years be bright and profitable and bring to each of you further accomplishments. Use the knowledge and skills that you have gained in the past so that Brookline High may be a better school, and the world a better place to live in, because of you—individually and as a group.

Mr. Carmen Rinaldi

Housemaster

To the class of 1959:

You have jumped the first hurdle at Brookline High School, and for the most part, successfully. The problem of adjusting is always difficult, but I am reassured that now that you have effectively settled into this climate you will begin to "dig in" academically, and accept the challenges that are offered to you. I hope that in the coming year you will contribute increasingly to the school community. Make this next year the time to assume your dutiful places as worthy citizens of the school, and give evidence that you have the intellectual ability to competently fulfill the increasing responsibilities of your sophomore year.

Carmen P. Rinaldi

Paul Newman (V.P.), Jane Brown (Sec.), Carol Bloom (Treas.), Lester Cohen (Pres.).

Miss Katherine Bruce

Assistant Housemaster

You have passed the first milestone on your journey through high school. I am sure it now seems unbelievable that there was ever a time when you did not know how to get to your locker or to the fourth floor. Yet such was the case! With one year successfully completed, you are now looking ahead, thinking in terms of your post-high school goals, and have, I am sure, set high standards for yourselves in your work and in your social relationships. Akers House is on the march, and it stands for all that is best in Brookline High School.

My sincere good wishes to you all for the happy years ahead.

Katherine L. Bruce

MURIVIAN EDITORIAL STAFF

In the years to come, we of the Murivian Editorial staff will always recall the many memorable events of 1956. Soon the innumerable hours of tedious and vexing work will almost be forgotten and the only remaining memories will be the pleasure and satisfaction we received when we saw the Murivian completed. We are proud to publish this book and hope that it will be to all of you a tangible momento of a wonderful year at Brookline High School.

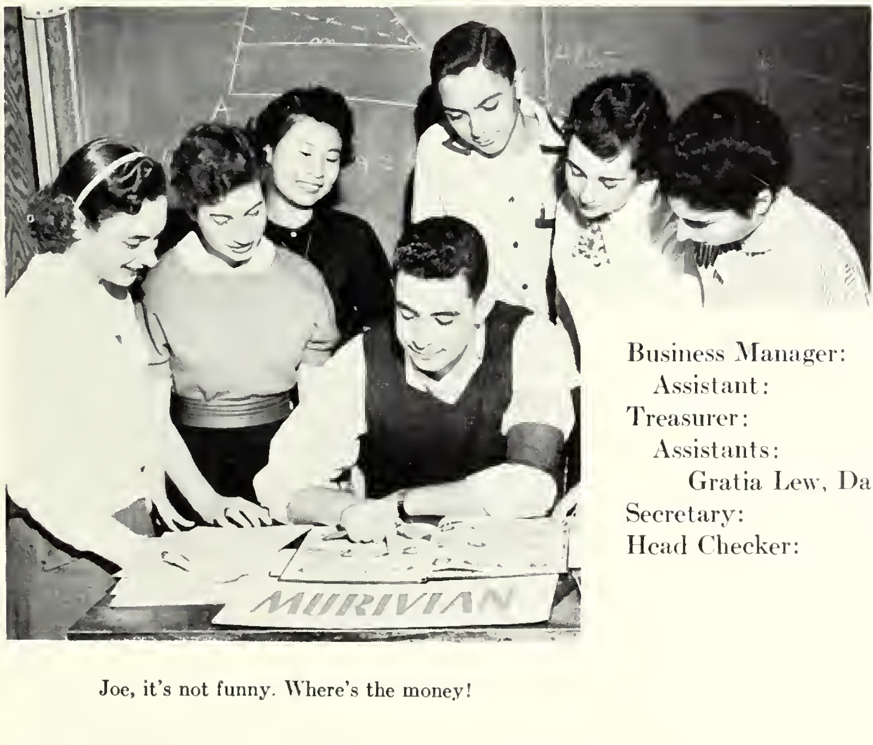
MURIVIAN BUSINESS STAFF

Counting money—writing receipts—dashing to homerooms—boosting sales—!

All these activities and many more are tasks of the 1956 Murivian Business Staff. Manned by Joe Bearson and faculty advisor, Mr. Bates, the staff is concerned with the financial and publicity problems connected with the complex production of a yearbook. This year, with enthusiasm and efficiency, the staff has made a record number of sales. Without the thrift and competence of this organization, the editorial staff of the Murivian would be unable to function properly.



Joe, it's not funny. Where's the money!

SCHOOL COUNCIL

Just as residents of Brookline have a voice in local government, so too do the students of Brookline High help govern their school. The School Council, representing all four houses, works jointly with Dr. Andree, the Marshal Force and the Court of Justice. Among its many activities the Council approves club constitutions and surveys other school functions. It is responsible for keeping Brookline High School continually progressive by efficient regulation of its affairs.

MARSHALS

In a school of almost 2000 students, observers are amazed to see how the students themselves are able to keep confusion and melee at a minimum. Thanks to the boys and girls with the blue and red arm bands, 'lunchroom and corridor traffic runs smoothly. Members of the force are selected by the homerooms, and they, in turn, elect their own officers. The Marshals play a very essential part in helping to maintain an effective, respected self governing system for the students at B.H.S.

COURT OF JUSTICE

Since Chief Justice Sewall first wielded the gavel in the General Court, Brookline citizens have been known to guard fair play in the execution of their laws. Today the Court of Justice at Brookline High guards "fair play" at our school. The Court aids the Marshal Force by conducting trials for those accused of breaking school laws. The Court consists of a Chief Justice, a prosecuting attorney and associate justices. Thus are accused Brookline High School students guaranteed a speedy trial by a jury of their peers.

ALPHA PI

Alpha Pi, as were all honorary societies, was founded to grant recognition for worthy achievement, and thus, in its own way, helps to fill a basic human need. Alpha Pi doesn't label its members as future Rhodes Scholars but as those who have evidenced their adjustment to their environment. Under the leadership of President Susan Shackter and faculty advisor Mr. Mather, the society has completely analyzed the point system in an attempt to evaluate the students' achievements.

AFFILIATION COMMITTEE

Brookline High School, through the activities of the Affiliation Committee, is doing its part to promote peace and understanding between Americans and Europeans. The Committee carries out its aims by sending to our affiliated school in France various items which we hope will tell more about American youth. As a major part of its program this year, the Committee sent Jerry Goldberg, a Brookline student, to France to attend our affiliated school and exchange ideas with our friends abroad.

ART CLUB

"Art has a language all its own" —the students of Brookline High School develop fluency in this "language" through the Art Club where they may dabble freely in all types of art acquiring many new techniques. Led by Mrs. Woodberry, the Art Club members, also are privileged to both observe the works of others and to hear lectures by guest speakers. Annually, the Art Club sponsors a school-wide art contest for the students to stimulate interest in art and the feeling of competition among themselves.

BAND

Brookline High School's 80 piece band is one of which everyone can be proud. It has been an active school organization for many years and has been widely acclaimed by students, faculty, and other musical groups. Led by student director Michael Gilman and by faculty advisor Mr. Corley, the Brookline band adds true spirit to our school during the football season, and it features concerts of truly fine music for us throughout the rest of the year.

BANK STAFF

The ideas of thrift and economy are no less important today than in the time of our colonial ancestors two hundred fifty years ago. Saving money at Brookline High School is one of the all-important responsibilities of the students. Every other Tuesday, the Bank Staff, comprised of seniors and juniors, aids the students to bank their money for the future efficiently and speedily. It is through their efforts that Brookline High students may look forward to a secure financial future.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Through an integrated program of lectures, demonstrations, laboratory dissections and field trips, the Biology Club, under the direction of Mrs. Folkhart, offers to its students a deeper study into the structure and processes of living organisms than can be obtained during school hours. To supplement this, all students may participate in an annual Science Fair sponsored by the Biology Club to furnish an extra incentive for the development of the fascinating phases of science.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club at Brookline High School has a very diverse program. Trips, guest speakers and discussions are all part of its activities. At some meetings the members spend their time taking photographs and learning the techniques of perfect picture development. Whether you are just learning how to maneuver a Brownie Hawkeye, or whether you have just invented a new four-dimensional cinemascope lens, you will find something interesting and valuable in the Camera Club.

CENTRAL TREASURY

The need for efficiency and frugality in money matters has always stood foremost in the minds of everyone; therefore, we at Brookline High School recognize the importance of the central treasury in fulfilling this fundamental need. All money, whether from banking, extra-curricular activities, house treasuries, or profit-making functions, must go through the capable hands of the central treasury, an organization managed by Mr. Ehnes with the assistance of a few teachers and students.

CHEFS CLUB

The Chef's Club is actually a course available during the school day. A great number of boys take advantage of this opportunity and put their study periods to good use, by learning the culinary arts. In olden days, the men worked while the women slaved over a hot stove. Nowadays men enjoy dabbling in the kitchen. Though the boys may not turn out to be world famous cooks, the pleasure and the experience they will have received will undoubtedly prove valuable.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Brookline students who attended the "dame schools" in 1705 gave little attention to the scientific understanding which is now recognized as essential to keeping up with everyday happenings. Students actively interested in chemistry and its increasing role in modern day living may often be seen in room 332 after school puzzling over chemical problems with Miss Campbell. By participating in experiments, by viewing recent scientific films, by listening to speakers and by arranging field trips, the members of the Chemistry Club gain a practical, not just theoretical, understanding of science.

CHESS CLUB

We can easily picture one of the many neighborhood gatherings of Brookline's colonial families. In our town's early days, neighbors often met before the blazing hearth in one of the farm houses, and while children played, and mothers chatted, the men would often partake in a friendly game of chess.

250 years later, the members of Brookline High's Chess Club not only find challenge and pleasure in manipulating their chessmen over the board, but they also have proven themselves quite skilled in intramural and interscholastic contests.

I'll give you just fifty minutes, John.

CONCERT CHOIR

One of the most unique clubs at Brookline High School is the Concert Choir whose function it is to present concerts for the enjoyment of the student body. Aside from this purpose, the Concert Choir had the privilege of singing at the Harvard Church and of giving a demonstration for the students majoring in music at the Boston University School of Education. The Concert Choir, under the supervision of Mr. Joseph, practices four times a week. These music-lovers enjoy the rehearsal sessions as much as we enjoy their performances.

DEBATING SOCIETY

There are probably few activities at Brookline High School as beneficial as the Debating Society, which provides practice in speech delivery and organization, so helpful at the high school level.

This year, under the direction of President Susan Shackter and an enlarged executive board, the Society has had an active intramural and interscholastic program. Voluntary clinics provided the opportunity to participate in at least one intramural debate.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY

This year Mrs. Joseph and the Dramatic Society very graciously devoted their time and energy so that the theatrical season at Brookline High School would be a success. In the middle of January, the Society was responsible for staging an excellent production of "Gramercy Ghost," a comedy by John Cecil Holm. The Dramatic Society is comprised mainly of aspiring actors and actresses. However, many of members have great artistic ability and work behind the scenes making costumes and scenery.

FUTURE HOME-MAKERS OF AMERICA

Add two cups of effort, a pinch of good humor and three teaspoons of avid interest, and you will have the hard-working Future Homemakers of America. The girls who belong to this organization recognize and appreciate the advantages of modern homemaking more than most high school students; for they are preparing through cooking, workshops, and parties, to be up-to-date homemakers in the homes which they will manage.

FRENCH CLUB

The strains of the "Marseillaise" coming from the Speech Theatre is no indication of a revolutionary movement. It actually means that the French Club is giving its members a pleasant dose of French culture. The club, steered by President Neil Herring and faculty advisor Miss Douglass, organizes plays, songs and discussions in an effort to promote understanding of a different way of life and a greater proficiency in the French language.

GERMAN CLUB

After a slight taste of German, students just learning the fundamental words and rules of the language begin to find themselves fascinated by both the German language and the people who speak it. For them there is the German Club where they may gather with other equally interested students to learn the German tongue and culture. Through Mr. Friedland's teaching, the students find knowledge and fun in a subject which all members of the German Club enjoy.

GIRLS LEAGUE

From the entrance in her freshman year to her exit as a senior, the Brookline High School girl reaps many benefits from the Girls' League, the largest club at the high school. Teas, social meetings, acquaintance parties and service work constitute only part of the role which the League plays in the school life of its members. Following through with the standards of service and sociability which the League tries to uphold, the girls learn to handle new responsibilities while enriching their experiences.

HAM RADIO CLUB

Our forefathers of two-hundred years ago would be astounded by the progress that has recently been made in the field of electronics. The Brookline High School Ham Radio Club which has tried to keep pace with the many scientific advances, has been fortunate enough to have been loaned a transmitter and is now awaiting permission to go on the air.

The club is comprised of thirty-seven members, about one-fifth of whom have their licenses. The licensed members aid and encourage those members aspiring to obtain their permits. Besides training new operators, the Ham Radio Club participates in Civil Defense activities.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross has tried to instill in the students at Brookline High School the necessity of helping the needy both at home and abroad. Among its diverse activities the Council conducted a very successful drive for gift boxes which will be sent to children overseas. The Red Cross also collected money and had the students make dolls for poor children. Brookline High School is indeed proud to be a member of this fine international organization.

LATIN CLUB

Although Latin is no longer a compulsory subject in schools and colleges as it was during the colonial period, there are still many young people with a strong interest in the language. The Latin Club provides the opportunity for Latin students to learn more about the language and culture of the ancient people who contributed so much to our civilization. The fascinating discussions on Roman history and customs which are held at the meetings serve to prove that Latin is not dead but is alive and interesting.

LIBRARY AIDES

The town of Brookline is proud to boast of the well-stocked libraries that each school possesses. The high school library alone has books enough for the study and recreational needs of almost two thousand students. Besides the regular librarians which the town provides, there are several generous students who spend their extra time shelving, locating, and checking-out the continual stream of books that circulate among the students and faculty.

LITERARY SOCIETY

The Literary Society is open to anyone who sincerely enjoys and appreciates good literature. The club is divided into groups for every interest: the Readers' Group, which reads and discusses authors of the past and present, and the Writers' Group, which constructively analyzes the original work of its members. The Society is also responsible for the annual publication of Literary Leaves, a collection of stories, essays and poems chosen from the creative work done by students throughout the year.

By working out such "originals" of higher mathematics, by seeing films, by hearing speakers, by taking field trips, and by participating in projects such as the Science Fair, the members of the Mathematics Society learn the application of math in living.

When Mr. Joslin lifts his baton and the orchestra begins to play, everyone knows a fine program of good music is in store for them. During the course of the year, the orchestra, which consists of skilled students from all houses, has provided enjoyable music for graduation, plays, concerts and assemblies. The orchestra also has some of its members representing Brookline High School at the All-State Orchestra and the New England Audition Festival.

"Get your Brookline High School beanie now!" "Come to the hockey game! Tickets here!" Almost any day during lunch and after school one of these cries may be heard in front of the lunchroom where members of the Pep Club do their job. By selling game tickets, beanies, sweatshirts and other items bearing Brookline High School emblems, the Pep Club boosts our school spirit. The club is responsible for the loyalty and enthusiasm shown at our athletic events and at other gatherings where Brookline students meet.

At the Science Fair which Brookline holds annually, one always finds an interesting or unusual project which has been submitted by a member of the Physics Club. The boys who are members of this organization have a genuine interest in science and are constantly attempting to increase their knowledge. With Mr. Wells as their guide, they conduct interesting and valuable experiments. By discussion they gain even more insight into the various aspects of physics.

RADIO CLUB

Those students who desire to formulate a better understanding of the technical, dramatic, and theatrical aspects of radio, may find their opportunity by joining the Radio Club at Brookline High. Not only does the club strive to fulfill these desires of its members, but, by visiting radio and television stations it also presents to the student an opportunity to speak on the air. Annually, the Radio Club sponsors a record poll to discover what type of popular music appeals to the Brookline High School students.

The 1956 staff published the largest issue in Sag history—ten pages of prize winning material. They won the remarkable acclaim when the Boston Globe judged B.H.S.'s paper "the best in greater Boston." The New England Scholastic Press Association gave to the paper a coveted rating of "All New England." Even the MURIVIAN, a rival publication must concede and acknowledge the excellent caliber of the Sagamore.

SOCIAL CUSTOMS CLUB

"Set out the best pewter. The Governor's passing through Muddy River today!" Thus might the colonial woman have prepared for an important social event. Today, planning for company involves more modern items, but the importance of social correctness is still with us. Through the Social Customs Club, girls at Brookline High learn just how to meet those "special occasions." Everything from parliamentary procedure to good grooming is discussed, and the members have a chance to practice at club-sponsored teas and parties the valuable things they learn.

STAGE AND ELECTRICAL STAFF

The stage manager and the hard-working crew which make up the Stage and Electrical Staff are the men behind the scenes. Although they are seldom seen by the audience, these boys are a very necessary part of every presentation in Roberts Auditorium. Since it is their responsibility to see that all lighting and technical work for the various assemblies, concerts, meetings, and dramatic productions are properly handled, we are indeed grateful for their continuous cooperation.

STUDENT FORUM

If you are interested in establishing a forty-ninth state, consult David Shine, president of the Student Forum. The Forum, concerned with current problems, is perhaps Brookline High's most informative club. Guest speakers and film strips are only part of its attraction. Here the students freely discuss with experts the political and economic situations the world over. Opportunity is also provided for freedom of speech and development of self-expression. Such a liberal organization for teenagers is indeed a far cry from the puritanical, dictatorial rule of our colonial ancestors.

A spine-tingling triumph over arch-rival Newton provided a fitting climax to a somewhat abbreviated and, at times, thoroughly frustrating season, saturated with peculiarities which the scribes claim could happen only in Brooklyn.

Considering that a polio epidemic delayed practice two weeks, cancelling the initial two games, that the weather washed out the third, that a tendency to fumble coupled with various key injuries hindered success early in the campaign, that graduation required an extensive rebuilding job, a large tip of the hat should go to the defending Class A champs who, under the tireless efforts of Messrs. Downes and Schluntz, posted a highly commendable 4-2 record.

Recovering from the defeats meted out by potent Waltham and Arlington, the Downesmen rebounded in grand fashion with the trouncing of Watertown, 41-19, the defeat of Quincy, 25-14, and then the ulcer-breeding affair against Newton, 21-19. The winning of the Thanksgiving Day classic seemed to erase all previous disappointments.

Outscoring their opponents 126-88, the backfield featured the quarterbacking of Steve Popell and this explosive trio of offensive strength—Co-Capt. Ernie Moreno, Gus Taylor, and Norm Gordon. Leading the line was Co-Capt. and center Dick Steele, flanked by such stalwarts as guards Ken Bronstein and George Moses; tackles, Lew Gurwitz and Don Kinsella; and ends, Ralph Langdon, Xie Mahoney, and Jim Earley.

The tremendous spirit and hustle displayed by the boys gave us a lot to cheer about, and it is doubtful if the season, especially the Newton contest, will ever slip too far in our memory.

Varsity Basketball

The 1955-56 basketball season found Brookline handicapped by the loss of star shooter and rebounder, Larry McNulty. The Brookliners overcame this handicap by the fine shooting of Jerry Feld and Captain Alan Skivirsky, the patience and knowledge of Coach Schluntz and a tremendous desire to win on the part of the whole team.

Brookline had all the qualities of a good basketball team, strong shooting, rebounding, and defense, in Jimmy Early and Mike Ellison rebounders, Kenny Carter, Gerry Feld, and Paul Varnum shooters, and Denny Miller who sparked the squad with his great defensive playing.

Varsity Baseball

This year's varsity baseball squad lost six starters from last year's team, which compiled a 15-4 record. Returning lettermen were three year veterans and co-captains Dick Steele and Walter Taylor. The pitching staff was bolstered by returning lettermen Steve Cole, George Walsh, and Bill Kenney and remaining positions were filled by boys coming from Mr. McCann's J.V., including infielders Larry McNulty, Alan Griffin, and Jim Early, outfielders Ken Carter and Mike Filiurin, catcher Bob Pons, and pitcher Bob Ritchie. A few boys from Mr. Jordan's freshman squad also cracked the starting lineup. Mr. Fitzgerald, coaching for his 29th year, hopes that repeats of last season's brightest notes such as George Walsh's sparkling two-hitter against state champion Newton, the Brookies will have another good season.

Although the Brookline sextet did not have a winning season this year, each team member displayed the traditional fighting spirit of Brookline High. Only three veterans of the squad, Captain Hughes, Kenny, and Pons, did a fine job in training the rookies. Besides the praise due Hughes, Thompson and Muldauney, credit must be given to rookie Richie for his talent as goalie. With able Coach McCann, the boys practiced hard every day, so that they could play their best at their weekly Saturday night contest.

Tennis

As a climax to one of its most successful seasons, the tennis team took a second place in the state tournament. Coach McCabe feels that Mike Troderman, and the present J.V.'s will, next year, again vie for state supremacy.

Golf

The boys on the golf team may never be presidents of the United States, but they all play the game enjoyed by our chief executive. Coach Woodlock's team had a very successful season despite its loss to Springfield in the State Championship finals.

Cheerleaders

At every important sporting event, the cheerleaders, led by Helen Rogers, spur our heroes on to victory. They work hard all year to make the best possible showing for Brookline High School and we think the teams will agree that they certainly succeed.

Majorettes

Led by Dotty Albert, the corps of eight majorettes performs its intricate routines at all BHS rallies and games. Skill, and hours of practice, enable the girls to be letter perfect at every showing.

Field Hockey

Field hockey is one of the most popular sports among the girls, and Brookline's hockey team is one of the best in the state. The enthusiasm for the sport is equaled only by the outstanding ability of the players. Several times a week the girls meet at Eliot Field for a full afternoon of fun and exercise. More important, however, is the spirit of wholesome competition found in such a game, and the invaluable experience to be gained from good sportsmanship.

Never mind the ball. Let's play the game!

Girl's Swimming

Every Wednesday afternoon, the Girls' Swimming Team works out at the pool, perfecting strokes, dives, and speed techniques. Although interscholastic meets are few, the girls work hard and have developed skills which will reward them well in future competitions.

Girl's Basketball

Every week during the second and third quarters, enthusiastic girls gather in the gym to participate in that ever-popular sport, basketball. The girls, who organize new teams each week, do not need outstanding ability, only the desire to learn and have fun.

During the two-hundred-and-fifty years of growth, Brookline has never lost sight of the importance of the individual. She has protected for her citizens the right to voice an opinion on public affairs through one of America's most democratic forms of government, the town meeting. Nor has this form of government hindered progress. As citizens of Brookline, we may take much pride in our past accomplishments and present reputation in the areas of education, sanitation, and others managed by the town. Of course, we must keep an ever constant eye to the future and to the goals yet to be obtained.

Brookline High School, naturally, as a part of our town, also encourages development of the individual, scholastically through small classes, and socially through a varied extra-curricular program. We of Shailer House are proud of our achievements botha s individuals and a class. Many of us have upheld and even exceeded the standards which we unconsciously set up four years ago. It is a pleasant and exciting experience to recall our four years spent at Brookline High School.

Now that our school careers have ended, we are beginning to realize that we, unable to live on our past laurels, must set new goals which will lead us to greater heights and an ever richer future. For the Shailer House of 1956, our motto, "Ever Onward," is the guide.
